EFOS HOW RIGID A MICROPHILATELY?

By John M. Hotchner

The Spring, 2001 issue of the EFOC featured the above titled article by Paul S. Greenlaw, Ph.D. on the cover. The gentleman's purpose was to "help clarify the meaning of these terms [Errors, Freaks, and Oddities] since they have been used together around 1980."

First, the term EFOs and the separate words that make up the set, have been around since well before 1980. I can't put an exact date on it, but the terms go back at least into the 1960s. 1980 was when the EFOCC adopted its name, and perhaps gave the term "EFOs" more general prominence, but they had been used before that in articles in the United States Specialist, the SPA Journal, and in Linn's and (Western) Stamp Collector.

Next, Dr. Greenlaw talks about what can be dropped from "the EFO Domain" to make our part of the hobby easier to deal with. I would submit that NOTHING can be dropped. As collectors we can decide what we want to collect, but we can't redefine the category to suit ourselves. EFOs are what they are: Production Varieties (as a summary statement). Whether expensive, or hard to get for other reasons, (and therefore inconvenient to expect yourself to obtain) they can not be dropped from the definition to make you feel better about what you have decided to exclude from your own collection.

And from that topic he sails into a learned discussion of what ought to be collected under the EFO rubric and whether that teml is even useful any more. He concludes with "Errors, freaks and oddities are three different words with three different meanings which somehow were put together around 1980 (sic). They're best used for nit picking and in intercollegiate debates."

Horse Feathers!!!! Dr. Greenlaw seems to have missed my chapter on Errors, Freaks, and Oddities in the current issue of Linn's 2000 World Stamp Almanac (pp 607-622) in which I have painstakingly defined what is included in each of the three categories, and why. There is, as I have said, some room for discussion on whether one or another type of variation properly belongs in one category or another. But the categories are precise. The material is for the most part easily classifiable into one of the three. And the term EFO has achieved enough standing in the hobby that it is now well understood in macro terms if not always in micro terms. For these reasons, I reject the idea that it should be disposed of.

Dr. Greenlaw's next subjects include discussions of the magnitude of varieties as it affects their catalogability,

APS STAMPSHOW 2001 in Chicago

The largest annual postage stamp show in the United States will run from August 23-26, 2001 at the Donald E. Stephens Convention Center, about five minutes from Chicago's O'Hare International Airport. More than 190 dealers have requested booths at the show which will also include 800 frames of exhibits including the World Series of Philately, a U.S. first day ceremony for four carnivorous plant stamps, more than 100 Society meetings and seminars, a cachetmakers bourse, three auctions, and the American Philatelic Society general and board meetings. Admission is free and door prizes will be awarded hourly.

Youth exhibits are still being accepted but the space for adult exhibits and dealer booths is oversubscribed. Limited meeting and seminar space remains available. Special activities include a large interactive youth area, an adult beginner program, an area where a bucket of stamps may be purchased for only $3 ($1 for youth age 15 and under) and more than fifteen booths at which all stamps will sell for 10 cents or less and all covers for $1 or less.

The tentative show schedule, the list of participating dealers, and information on the more the more than 40 participating Societies and hotel and travel discounts are available from the APS and the show website at www.stamps.org/directories/dir_StampShow_intro.htm. Individuals may also sign up for a monthly e-mail newsletter on the show. The APS can be reached at PO Box 8000, State College, PA 16803-8000, telephone 814-237-3803, fax 814-237-6128. FINDING NEW MEMBERS - PRIZES OFFERED FOR IDEAS

John M. Hotchner, Vice-President

We send out press releases. We troll the new member lists of the American Philatelic Society for prospects. We give exhibit awards. Jim McDevitt staffs a table at half a dozen shows per year representing the EFOCC. I mention EFOCC in my Linn's column and in US Stamp News a couple of times each year. And all of these efforts do bear fruit. And that is important because we need to find EFO collectors and encourage them to pursue this part of the hobby.

But, there is always the question: what else could we be doing to find new members? I will offer a prize of EFOs with a cash value of $50 to the member who sends me the best new idea for getting our club before the stamp collecting public as a means of recruiting. Give it some thought, and write to me at PO Box 1125, Falls Church, VA 22041.

And what else could we be doing as a club to promote EFO collecting? Yes, I'll pop for another $50 worth to the person who provides the best, most workable, idea. And don't be shy about volunteering to work on your suggestion or someone else's. Some things Jim and I have not done because there aren't enough hours in the day, or willing volunteers.

Finally, I invite you to come to APS STAMPSHOW this year, to be held in the Rosemont Convention Center (Near O'Hare Airport), Chicago, Illinois, August 23-26, 2001. Among the many fascinating things to see and do will be a couple of frames of World Rarities which will include some of the best of the EFO material that I have gathered over the last 25 years of serious EFO collecting. I'll be there, and would like to meet as many EFOCC members as possible.

This column will appear in each issue of the EFOC during John's tenure.

He sincerely invites member reaction for publication, and questions you would like to see addressed in this column. Please contact

John at the address cited in his article.

DO TAGGING AND PERFORATOR ERRORS RESULT IN OTHER TYPES OF ERRORS AND DOES IT PROVIDE OTHER INFORMATION? AN EXAMINATION OF A FEW CANADIAN AND US POSTAGE STAMP BOOKLETS

by: Joseph Monteiro

Tagging and perforating errors have not been given the same status as other types of philatelic errors like inverts, missing parts of the stamp design, missing colours, imperforates, etc. As a result, most catalogues and books on errors rarely list these errors. This is also reflected in the fact that tagging and perforating errors are usually priced at a fraction of the cost of the classical types of errors. Nevertheless, these errors are quite fascinating and have added immensely to philatelists' understanding about how the stamps are printed, what types of perforators are used, etc. and add tremendously to our wealth of philatelic knowledge.

In this brief article, a few tagging and perforating errors that appeared on the 50-cent Parliament booklet of Canada will be reviewed. In addition, a few US booklets purchased at the EFO auctions will be briefly reviewed.

The 50-cent Parliament Booklet:

The 50-cent Parliament booklet depicts various sections of the Parliament buildings that were first constructed in the early 1860s. The parliament buildings were almost completely destroyed by fire in 1916, and only the northwest wing and the adjoining Library of Parliament (Which had been completed in 1876) escaped the flames. The buildings were restored, essentially to the original Plans, by 1922. The buildings consists of three major blocks: the Centre block, the West block and the East block. The Centre block also consists of the adjoining Library of Parliament (which had been completed in 1876).

The Parliament buildings are commemorated in the Parliament View series which is to date the most extensive of the six sub-series on domestic first class rates, with 10 different denomination/color entities, and up to 36 distinct varieties. Of the ten different denominations, the four primary denominations were produced in all four formats, using three different colors within each denomination, three different printers and five different papers, along with several perforation changes and a change in stamp size. Color changes were also made for two of the lower-value stamps. The only constants across the entire series are that all pane and roll stamps were printed by the Canadian Bank Note Co., and all vending booklets by the British American Bank Note Co.

One of the four primary denominations i.e., the 34-cent, the 36-cent, the 37-cent and the 38-cent, is contained in the 50-cent Parliament booklets. Each booklet also contains other stamps with values such as 1-cent, 2-cent, 5-cent and 6-cent. These lower values are included to bring the value of these vending booklets to 50 cents.

Apart from the images and design on the domestic rate values, the domestic rate is different from the lower value stamps in that it is tagged.

A Description of Mistagged Errors in the 50-cent Parliament Booklet with the 34-cent domestic rate stamp:

The 50-cent Parliament booklet with the 34-cent domestic rate stamp was issued on June 21, 1985 (described in the Scott Catalogue as Bk 88a or in the Darnell Catalogue as BC1090). This booklet contains five Stamps plus the domestic 34-cent stamp. Some of these booklets contain a tagging error and a few years ago a sample of the 50-cent booklet with the tagging error on the 34-cent stamp was purchased. In the sample of booklets purchased two basic types of mistagged errors were found:

1) The first type of booklet has four types of errors. First, the 34-cent stamp has the tagging on the right missing: Second, the tagging at the bottom of the 34 cent stamp, is above the straight line edge (in other words it does not go right to the bottom edge of the booklet). Third, the 5-cent stamp has the tagging at the bottom of the stamp. Fourth, the 2-cent stamp has the tagging on the left. Fifth, the 5-cent stamp above the 2-cent stamp has a touch of tagging on the left bottom at the corner that extends from the 2-cent below.

2) There are two variants of the second type of error which are described hereafter:

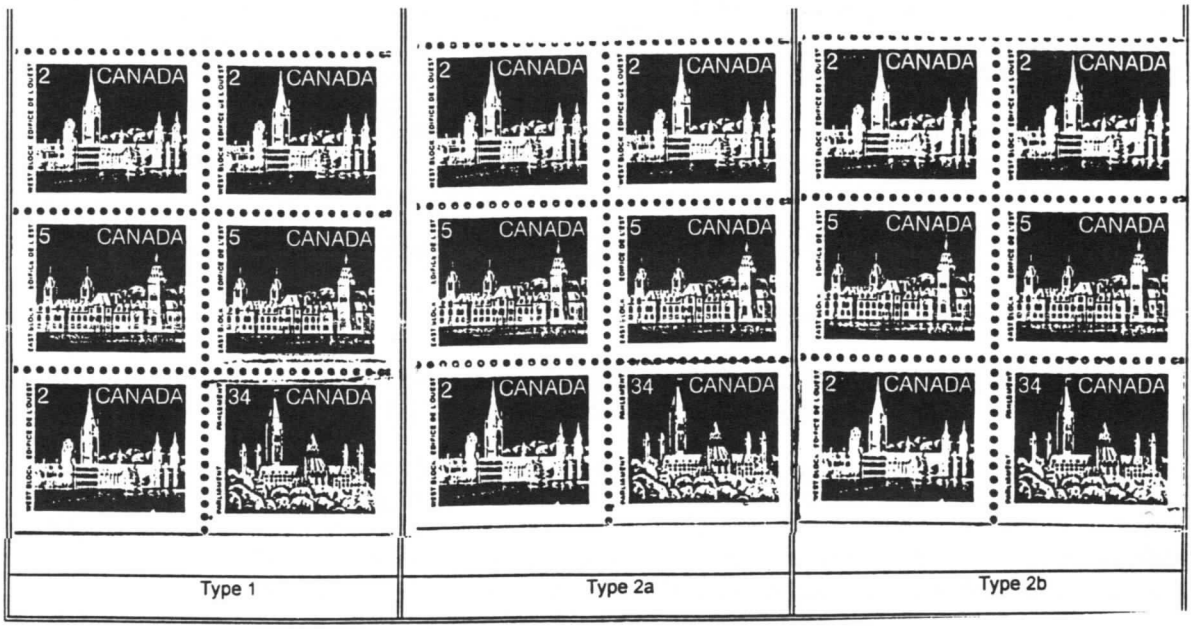

a) The first variant has the following errors. First, the 34-cent stamp has the tagging on the right missing. Second, the 2-cent stamp has the tagging on the left.

b) The second variant has the following errors. First, the 34-cent stamp has the tagging on the right missing. Second, the 2-cent stamp has the tagging on the left. The difference between this variant and that described above is that the vertical tagging is shifted to the right by about .5mm to .7mm. As a result, the tagging on the 2-cent is like]. This is in contrast to the tagging in the above variant which is in the form of straight line I. These tagging errors are shown in the illustrations hereafter.

These errors are instructive and educational for two basic purposes. First, these errors provide information on other types of errors that could exist. Second, these errors indicate the format in which the booklets were most likely printed. These two issues will be examined in greater detail.

Regarding the first, it is believed that other variants with similar types of errors could exist. 1) The 34-cent stamp may not have any tagging at the top, as all the tagging may have appeared on the 5-cent stamp and the tagging on the 34-cent stamp at the bottom maybe a few millimeters from the bottom; 2) The 34-cents would not have any tagging at the bottom in the event that the tagging Shifted downward; 3) The vertical tagging could appear in the middle or near middle of the stamp and not on the sides, in other words it relate to the extent of the tagging shift; and 4) The vertical tagging and horizontal tagging on the lower value non-tagged stamps would be more pronounced and visible.

Regarding the second, information about the format in which these booklets were printed is described hereafter. From the errors, it appears that the booklet was printed in sheets in which the format of the booklet was printed successively. In other Words, consider the above illustration and imagine that the booklets were all attached. This also suggests an explanation why the tagging errors occurred on the lower value stamps. The machine applying the tagging applied it a couple of millimeters to the left as a result, the tagging instead of appearing on the right of the 34-cent stamp appeared on the left of the 2-cent stamp. Similarly, the tagging in some cases instead of appearing slightly lower was shifted slightly upward as a result it appeared also on the 5-cent stamps. In the event that the shift was much higher than occurred in the illustrations, there would be no tagging on the 34-cent stamp at the top, just as there is no tagging in the case of the 34-cent stamp on the right on the other type of booklet errors (type a). Also since the breath of the tagging bars is constant (i.e. .2mm) it will have an effect on the tagging errors on other stamps.

A Description of Perforator Errors in the 50-cent Parliament Booklet with the 36-cent domestic rate stamp:

The 50-cent Parliament booklet with the 36-cent domestic rate stamp was issued on March 30, 1987 (described in the Scott Catalogue as Bk 92a or in the Darnell Catalogue as BC1169). This booklet contains four stamps plus the domestic 36-cent stamp and a label with a message. The known misperforated booklet appears with the vertical misperforation shifted about half a centimetre or .5mm to the right. As a result, the misperforation passes on the right of the 1-cent or 6-cent numeral or between the '3' and '6' of the '36' cent numeral. As a result there are several noticeable errors.". First, the top two stamps on the right in the booklet have no value or denomination. Second, the top two stamps on the left have two different values, one on the right of the stamps and one On the left of the stamp. Third, the bottom 36-cent stamp only shows a value of '6'. Fourth, the bottom 36-cent stamp is also mistagged due to the perforation error. The vertical tagging is missing on the left. The stamp thus has only three tagging bars. Fifth, the label has a tagging on the right with a value on the right.

Illustration Of the Misperforated and Mistagged 50-cent booklets

These errors are also instructive in that they provide us With a clue as to cause of these errors. It seems that these misperfs were most likely the result of a misfeeding of the sheets through the perforator. This is suggested by two sets of factors: first, the booklet was guillotined correctly. If it was a print shift, the guillotining of the booklet would suggest it; and second, the tagging appears correct (if the stamps been perforated correctly). The probability that both guillotining and tagging are incorrect is much smaller than the probability of only the perforation being incorrect, Suggesting that this is most probably a perforating error, as distinct from a printing or print Shift error.

A Description of Perforator Errors in the $1,20 Oliver Wendell Holmes Booklet and the $2 Bighorn Sheep:

The $1.20 booklet of Oliver Wendell Holmes issued on June 28, 1978 contains eight 15-cent stamps (described in the Scott Catalogue as 1288); and the $2 booklet of the Bighorn Sheep issued on January 8, 1982 contains ten twenty-cent stamps (described in the Scott Catalogue as 1949). Several months ago, a few of the above two booklets were purchased. An illustration of the booklet errors are shown hereafter.

15-Wendell Holmes (1)

15-Wendell Holmes (2)

20-cent Bighorn Sheep (1)

20-cent Bighorn Sheep (2)

Are all of these booklet errors caused because of the perforator? It is obvious that the errors in illustrations (2) of Holmes and the Bighorn Sheep are perforating errors. But what about the illustrations in (1)? Could it be because the booklet was miscut? I believe that the illustrations in (1) are also a perforating or a misperforated error for several reasons. First, if the booklet errors were a result of the booklet being miscut, then perforations would appear on the two sides of the booklet, especially if the booklets are printed in consecutive formats. Second, if the booklets were miscut then the tab at the top of the booklet would not be on the right but on the left. For these two reasons, I believe that these errors (i.e., in (1)) are a result of the perforator and not because the booklet was miscut or improperly guillotined.

Does the tagging or phosphorous type of tagging suggest any other information? I checked both the booklets but since the tagging covered the entire booklet no further information could be inferred as to whether the causes of the error could be a print shift.

Conclusion:

The above three examples are illustrative for several reasons. First, tagging errors on one stamp can lead to tagging errors on other stamps. It also provides one with a clue as to what types of other tagging errors to theorize about and the format in which the stamps were most likely printed. Second, the perforator malfunction indicates how it can not only result in perforation errors but also in tagging errors. Finally, the error on the US booklets indicates how one can determine whether it was a perforator error or an error as a result of the booklet being miscut.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

I pray that the membership supports, applauds, and appreciates the efforts of our auction director—Peter Rikard. Myself and having been our club's auction director for a short time, I understand and appreciate the efforts one must accomplish to offer and track several hundred lots auction. Please read and respond to Peter's needs as noted in his auction director's notes, page 18 of this issue.

As noted elsewhere in this issue, the EFOCC will have a presence at the American Philatelic Society's premier summer show in Chicago, August 24—26, 2001.

The Errors, Freaks, Oddities Collectors Club will conduct a business meeting at noon, Sunday, August 26, in room F. In room B on Saturday, August 25, I will conduct a seminar on "Errors, Freaks, and Oddities — "What are They and Where to Get Them." Please consult a show program to confirm times and meeting rooms. Also and for the show's run, I will be staffing the APS's Affiliate table; please drop by and say "Howdy".

Dave Hunt has settled in as EFOCC treasurer and reports that as of 31 March, 2001 the club's treasury balance is $7,066.85. This sum does not take into account any auction funds.

Sincere thanks for the nice publicity for the EFOCC in the March-April edition of Topical Time, the EFOCC's auction was noted in the May-June edition of Topical Time and the April 23rd edition of Linn's Stamp News noted the recent publication of an update to the index of articles published in the EFO Collector.

Have accumulated the necessary software, servers, etc., now just have to get the education to transmit material to the EFOCC's website at <www.efoers.org>

The club is in dire need of material to share with our members. Your editor needs articles; photocopies of exhibit pages, examples of exhibit synopsis, member profiles, etc., etc. Please share your discoveries, favorite items, topics, etc.

REMINDER—TIME TO RENEW DUES FOR 2001-02

If this journal's mailing label member number displays an -01 it is time to renew dues for 2001 to 2002

Renewal dues are $15.00 for one year

$20.00 for two years

Auction Director's Notes

Auction 92 , 93 and 94

Well we did much better in Auction 92. We had more bidders, we sold a better percentage of lots, we had more bidding on lots. Still and all, we only sell about 50% of the lots received. I know that most of the prices are "good', because I watch similar material on several online auctions. Either we are not offering what you want or something os wrong with the format of the auction. Please write me with your comments (see my addresses below).

Auction 93 is in this issue. It was supposed to be in the last issue, but I wasn't ready (again). The 93rd Auction has 400 lots, a very wide range of prices, very little duplicate or similar lots and should have interest for a lot of you. Remember in the case of tie bids, first bid wins.

Auction 94 is fairly full. I can take a few odd items (Gee, I thought all EFO material was odd?) And would appreciate some nice foldovers, whacky perfs and preprinting paper folds. Barring another crisis the 94th will appear in the next issue. If you are not sure about putting your items in the club auction, write to me and I'll try to tell you what we can and can't do for you.

Addresses for Auctions

My mailing address is still Peter Rikard, PO Box 25623, Richmond, VA 23260. My home address changed in the last 18 months, but the PO box is still there. I would appreciate all mail going to the PO box. I feel that the delivery to the box is safer than delivery to my home.

My email address is changing. Please use Rikard@mediaone.net starting now.

Web Site

My next project is to create a web site for me and a web site for the EFOCC. Because viewing the printed version of the auction isn't very useful for many color varieties, missing colors,.. I have wanted to make the scans of the auction available on the web. Having a web site will also help attract new members. Barring some new impediment you can start looking for WWW.EFOCC.ORG to be up by early July. Assuming that I can get the bugs worked out, I'll start asking for suggestions in the next newsletter.

If I have it running, where I want it to run, I'll put the scans for some of the better items in the 93rd Auction on the web site.

EFOS HOW RIGID A MICROPHILATELY?

collect ability and pricing. While he makes some good points, there seems to be a summary conclusion that minor varieties are not worth the effort. I respectfully disagree. If one looks at varieties as a reflection of what has happened in the production process, the magnitude of the variety is nearly unimportant. What is important is what it tells the collector about how the machines worked. If all one cares about is whether the visual result is an eye-popper, then perhaps Greenlaw's opinion is on target. But, for those of us who care about understanding the cause as well as the effect, the range of "minor" varieties is just as important as the "major" variety that has the masses going "Ooh" and "Aah".
